

The predicted carbon footprint form: non mandatory

A predicted footprint can be created during pre-production. This is not mandatory but will help significantly when completing the final footprint form. In general, getting to know the information required for the albert carbon calculator in advance will make it easier to complete the final form and will help inform decisions on how best to cut the carbon footprint during production.